- We may receive information from you or from your financial representative through transactions, correspondence and other communications. Examples of this information include specific investments and your account balances.
- We may obtain other personal information from you in connection with providing you a financial product or service. Examples of this information include depository, debit or credit account numbers.
- We may obtain consumer report information from a consumer reporting agency. An example would be verifying account information received from you with a consumer reporting agency as part of a customer identification program.

Information Sharing Policy

Except as described below, the Funds do not share customer information. We will not rent, sell, trade, or otherwise release or disclose any personal information about you. Any information you provide to us is for our use only. If you decide to close your account(s) or become an inactive customer, we will adhere to these privacy policies and practices.

The Funds will not disclose consumer information, account numbers, access numbers or access codes for credit cards, deposit or transaction accounts to any nonaffiliated third party for use in telemarketing, direct mail or other marketing purposes.

The Funds limit the sharing of nonpublic personal information about you with financial or non-financial companies or other entities, including companies affiliated with the Funds, and other, nonaffiliated third parties, to:

- We may share information when it is required or permitted by law. For example, information may be shared to protect you against fraud or with someone who has a legal or beneficial interest, such as your power of attorney, or in response to a subpoena.
- We may disclose some or all of the information described above with companies that perform marketing or other services on our behalf.

For example, we may share information about you with the financial intermediary (bank or broker-dealer) through whom you purchased the Funds' products or services, or with providers of marketing, legal, accounting or other professional services.

Information Security:

When the Funds share nonpublic customer information referred to above, the information is made available for limited purposes and under controlled circumstances designed to protect our customers' privacy. We require third parties to comply with our standards for security and confidentiality. We do not permit use of customer information for any other purpose nor do we permit third parties to rent, sell, trade or otherwise release or disclose information to any other party. These requirements are included in written agreements between the Funds and third party service providers.

The Funds maintains physical, electronic, and procedural safeguards to protect your nonpublic personal information.

Additionally, the Funds will take reasonable measures when disposing of consumer report information to protect against the unauthorized access or use of such information during the disposal process.

Each of the following sections explains an aspect of the Funds' commitment to protecting your personal information and respecting your privacy.

Employee Access to Information:

All of the Funds' employees must adhere to the Funds' confidentiality policy. Employee access to customer information is authorized for business purposes only. The degree of access is based on the sensitivity of the information and on an employee's need for the information to service a customer's account or comply with legal requirements.

If you have opted to receive marketing information from the Funds by email, our policy requires that all messages include instructions for canceling subsequent e-mail programs. Some products or services from the Funds are intended to be delivered and serviced electronically. Email communication may be utilized in such cases. If you participate in an employer-sponsored retirement plan administered by the Funds, we may, at your employer's request, send email to you on matters pertaining to the retirement plan.

Surveys / Aggregate Data:

Periodically, the Funds may conduct surveys about financial products and services or review elements of customer information in an effort to forecast future business needs. We then generate reports that are used for the Funds' planning, statistical and other corporate purposes. These reports include aggregate data about customers. Aggregate data classifies customer information in various ways, but does not identify individual customers. While aggregate data may be shared with external parties, such as marketing organizations, it does not include information by which a customer may be identified.
